

Printed copies of this text are not controlled. Always check the CIT website -

Believing that others are easily successful. Perfectionists tend to perceive others as achieving